4. What did you like most about the course? ⓘ

The instructor was quite professional, respectful, knowledgeable, and flexible. She showed mastery of the topic and made the class quite interactive. She is the best.

self paced allowed me to do the work around other work assignments and deadlines. Practical exercises aimed at helping me reflect on and improve my current courses.

I loved the assignments. They caused me to stretch my thinking and to consider concrete ways to apply the material to my teaching.

The course instructor, Felicia Littlejohn, went above and beyond to tailor feedback and suggest tools. I liked that it was self-paced and used a variety of techniques in the course itself to module what we were learning.

The course does what it preaches: every module is presented and taught in a way that shows the research and recommendations for student engagement in action. The pacing and the organization are clear, and the feedback that Felicia provides is also very insightful. All in all, the course has given me a boost of energy to plan for my translation course this fall.

5. What did you wish was different about the course? ⓘ

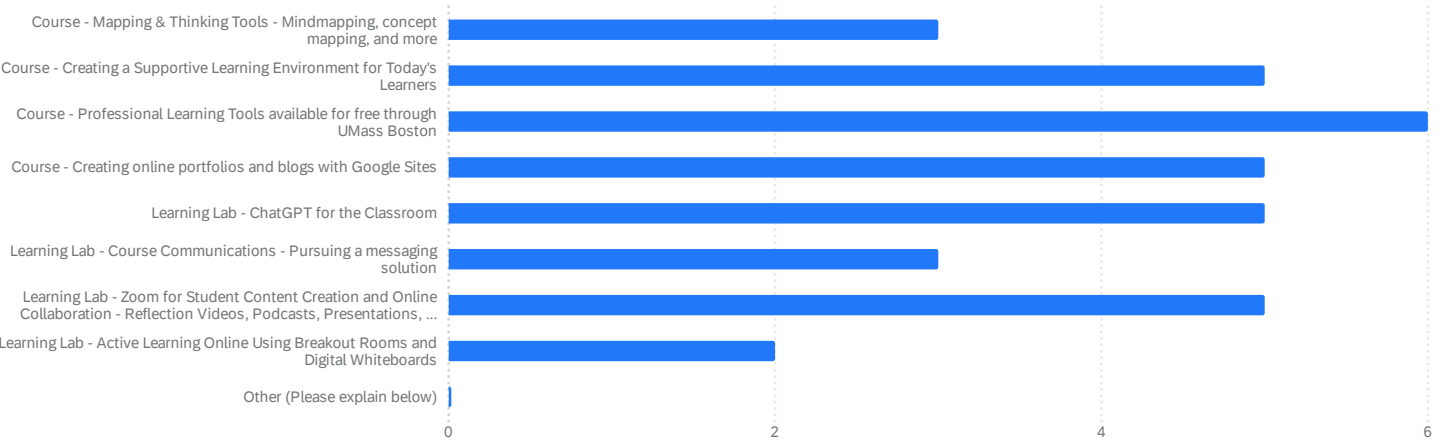

Nothing! Everything was perfect!

I wish I could have attended more of the live sessions.

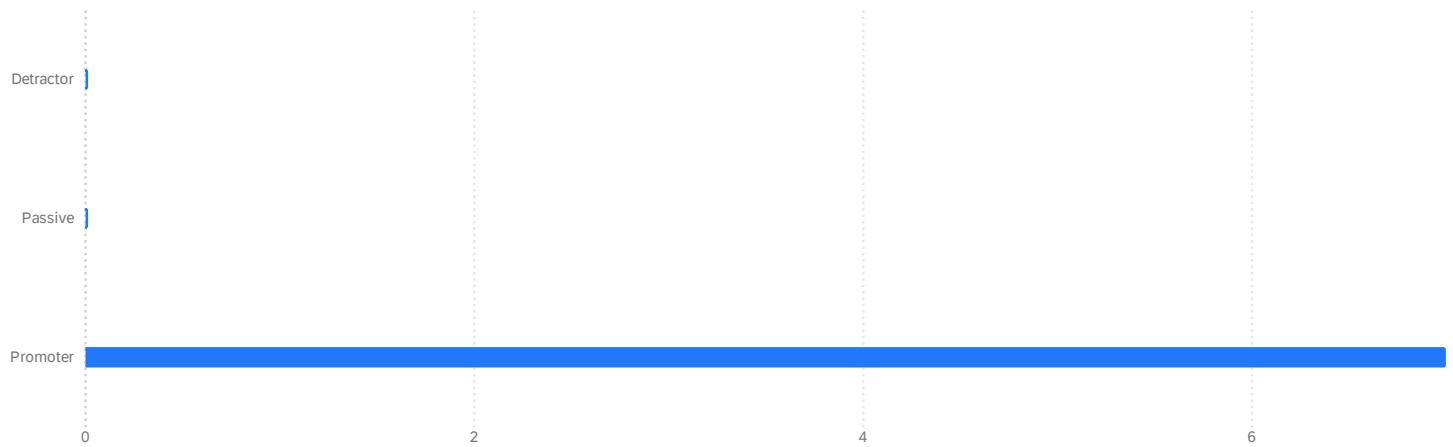

Nothing! It was well-balanced with a lot of information but delivered in manageable segments in a variety of mediums.

I wish we could have more time to practice with some of the tools (like concept maps).

This really helped me think about ways to enhance our online courses as well as my presentations. THANK YOU!

Felicia, you are a very inspiring instructor. I really enjoyed this opportunity to learn about andragogy, expert blind spots, and concept mapping. These tools will help me not only with my teaching, but also with my research. Thank you!
